Weather Key Points

Regional Operations Center

Western Region

Tuesday, February 7

- Periods of gusty Santa Ana winds will persist across southern California through late week, particularly on Tuesday and again Thursday and Friday
  - The strongest winds are expected across the mountains and foothills of Los Angeles and Ventura Counties, where gusts up to 50 mph are likely
- Areas of overnight and morning dense fog also remain possible through mid to late week, particularly across the San Joaquin Valley
- Outside of light precipitation across far northern California Tuesday and again Friday, mainly dry weather is expected through late week. A slow moving storm system may bring more widespread precipitation over the weekend, though at this time any precipitation looks to be on the light side.
